Your positioning isn't weak.

It's identical to 100 other people's.

You think the market isn't seeing you.

The market sees you.
It just can't tell you apart
from everyone else in your niche.

Weak positioning feels invisible.
Identical positioning feels replaceable.

They are not the same problem.
And they do not have the same fix.

Signs your positioning is identical:

- You use the same 5 adjectives as every competitor
- Your bio sounds like a LinkedIn template
- Your offer is a list of services, not a stance
- You promise clarity, growth, and transformation

Identical says:
"I do what they do."

Different says:
"I solve what they miss."

One blends in.
One gets booked.

Pick a position no one else in your niche is willing to take.

Name the trade-off.
Name the enemy.
Name the person you refuse to work with.

That is how expertise becomes visible.
