Clear messaging is the highest-ROI thing you can build as a coach.

Not more content.
Not more followers.

Clarity.

Most coaches post daily
and get complete silence.

Not because of the algorithm.

Because their message is vague.

Vague = invisible.

Messaging clarity means 3 things:

- Your ICP hears it and feels seen
- A stranger gets it in 5 seconds
- It points to ONE specific result

Most coaches fail all 3.

Test your message with these:

- Can you say it in 10 words?
- Does it name the pain they feel?
- Does it promise a specific result?
- Would your ideal client say "that's me"?
- Would a stranger know who it's for?

I worked with a therapist-turned-coach.

She posted 90 days straight. 3 clients total.

We rewrote her positioning in one session.

Next 30 days: 8 discovery calls.

Same audience. Clearer message.

The formula that changes everything:

[Who you serve]
+ [Pain they can't solve alone]
+ [Result they desperately want]

= A message that attracts without effort.
