EVERY DISCOUNT COSTS YOU

"I dropped the price to close the deal. They still ghosted. Now I feel cheap AND broke."

Maybe I will offer 20 percent off this week.

They asked for a better price again.

I need the money. I will just discount it.

THE SILENT LEAK

Every discount tells buyers you are not worth your own price

Cheap clients stay. Serious buyers walk. Your brand quietly becomes the bargain bin.

DESPERATE

Dropping the price

→

PREMIUM

Holding the price

THE REAL SHIFT

A discount is not a close. It is a confession.

Buyers do not trust a price you will not defend. Every dollar off is a dollar of conviction lost.

WHAT A DISCOUNT SAYS

4 things buyers hear when you drop the price

"Your real price is flexible"

They will negotiate every future deal. You just trained them how.

"You were overcharging"

A lower number exposes the first one as a bluff, not a price.

"You need this sale"

Desperation is felt instantly. It repels the premium buyer.

"Your work is a commodity"

Price becomes the decision. Your expertise becomes invisible.

THE MIRROR

Which column is running your business?

SIGNAL	DISCOUNTER	PREMIUM
Objection	Lowers price	Raises value
Client type	Bargain seekers	Outcome seekers
Pipeline	Always thin	Selectively full
Calls end with	"Can you do less?"	"How soon can we start?"
Identity	Order taker	Trusted authority

3 STEPS TO STOP DISCOUNTING

Hold the price without losing the deal

1. Lead with the Outcome, Not the Price
   Anchor the conversation on what changes for them. Numbers feel cheap next to transformation.

2. Swap Discount for Scope
   If they need a lower number, remove something. Never give the same offer for less.

3. Make "No" a Real Option
   Say the price, then stay silent. Confidence closes what discounts never will.

> PRO TIP
>
> The next time you want to discount, add a bonus instead. Value stays. Price stays. So does your positioning.

@SAMTRABULSI

STILL DROPPING YOUR PRICE?

Comment BRAND and I will show you the exact line that makes buyers pay full price without flinching.

COMMENT "BRAND"

@samtrabulsi · Brand Victory