WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU CHARGE YOUR WORTH

SWIPE ›

THE PATTERN

"I'll just drop the price to close this one. Maybe I'm not worth more yet..."

Can you do $800 instead? I really want to work with you but the budget is tight.

Sure, I can make it work... (dying inside)

Actually could we split into 6 payments?

The discount spiral never ends

You attract clients who value the deal, not the transformation.

THE REFRAME

BEFORE

🔽 Discount to close → attract wrong clients

PRICE = YOUR INSECURITY

↓

AFTER

💎 Hold your rate → filter for committed clients

PRICE = YOUR POSITIONING

Your price is a signal, not a number.

When you drop it, you don't close more deals. You just attract the wrong ones.

WHAT CHANGES

4 things that shift when you hold your price

🧲

Client quality jumps

People who pay full rate show up, do the work, and get results.

⚡

Fewer clients, more revenue

3 premium clients outperform 10 discounted ones — in income and energy.

🎯

Better implementation

Higher investment = higher commitment. They actually do the work.

🔥

Your confidence rises

Holding your rate once rewires how you see your own value.

THE DIFFERENCE

Underpriced vs. Premium

SIGNAL	UNDERPRICED	PREMIUM
Discovery calls	Exhausting	Energizing
Ghosting rate	High	Near zero
Client results	Mixed	Consistent
Referrals	Rare	Regular
Your energy	Depleted	Full

THE MOVE

3 steps to hold your premium rate

1. Sell the transformation, not the time
   Clients don't buy hours. They buy the outcome. Lead with that.

2. Anchor to their problem's real cost
   What does staying stuck cost them in 12 months? That's your price context.

3. Say the price. Then stop talking.
   Silence after your number is not awkward — it's confident.

> PRO TIP
> The first client you don't discount for becomes the proof story that sells the next ten.

@SAMTRABULSI

Comment "BRAND" below

I'll show you exactly what's making your brand hard to trust, hard to understand, and easy to ignore.

COMMENT BRAND